FROM OIL TO WHEAT

The Latter Makes a Rapid Advance in Price.

THE FORMER COMES DOWN.

A Spurt on the Chicago Exchange Creates Considerable Excitement, but It Subsides Before the Closing Hour—Rapid Fluctuations in New York—The Oil Excitement Rapidly Dying Out.

CHICAGO, April 23.—After a wild spurt at the opening and a slump in the middle of the session, wheat closed 1 3/8 cents higher for May yesterday. Heavy buying largely by shorts caused the advance. May corn closed three-fourths cent higher. May oats one-eighth cent lower, and provisions at slight advances.

Wheat started up with a wild rush, opening trades being at 1 1/2 cents advance. Every one wanted to get May at 61 1/2 and July at 62 1/2, and sellers even at such tempting advances over Saturday's prices were few. Almost instantly 62 cents was being bid May and 63 cents for July, and at it was only then that it was found possible by the greater number of the brokers having buying orders to find plenty of sellers.

The onrush to buy had obtained such an impetus, however, that 62 1/4 and 63 1/4 for May and July respectively were paid before trading got into a regular swing. The last named prices proved the culminating point of the advance, and it took only five minutes from the start to reach it. The excitement gradually subsided until the closing hour.

Excitement in New York.

NEW YORK, April 23.—The activity in wheat yesterday brought to mind the scenes of other days, when fluctuations of 3 to 5 cents and transactions in eight figures were common. The market opened 2 1/8 cents higher at one bound, with an excited trading that ran sales up to over 13,000,000 bushels by noon and to 32,985,000 bushels for the entire day's business.

Local shorts whose margins gave out were the most eager of the early buyers, but brokers had big orders from outside speculators and European operators which were all one way and prices shot right up to 65 7/8 cents for May, against 63 5/8 cents, the final figures of Saturday. No one seemed able to explain the advance beyond its being that result of an overflow of bull sentiment with which the market has been charged for two weeks or more past.

At noon the market was 1 1/4 cents off from the top under heavy offerings of long wheat, but all the strength returned again in the afternoon, and with increased activity values moved up to the top notch again and closed strong. The final burst of strength was attributed by some to the decided advance in late continental cables, coupled with reports of unfavorable crop news from Germany.

CRUDE OIL COMING DOWN.

Still It Is Not Expected to Get as Low as It Has Been.

CLEVELAND, April 23.—"Crude oil is going down a little," was the statement at the office of Schofield, Schurmer & Teagle, one of the largest independent refining firms in the country. "The Standard paid $2.25 on Saturday for credit balances that is fresh oil, and yesterday offered $2.10. Certificate oil opened at $1.95 yesterday. Although the Standard lost control of the market as the rise came they have regained control, and are now shaking the oil out of the little fellows, as one broker expressed it.

"The Standard is dropping the prices a little every day to scare other people. Some bought on top of the market, and held on for a time, but they are now selling out at a loss to save themselves from the effects of a greater decline. Brokers are all at sea, and don't know what to do. What would follow would be a mere guess. I do not know whether prices will rise or fall. I do believe, however, that we will not in a long time see oil go down to where it has been during the last two years."

New Well Drilled In.

ST. MARY'S, O., April 23.—An oil well, just in at St. Mary's reservoir, starts off with 200 barrels per day. The excitement is greatly intensified by this news. The danger of a scarcity of oil wells supplies is agitating the oil operators and leasing is made with difficulty on account of the limited time of contracts and the impossibility of obtaining supplies sufficient to fulfill the same. A number of wells are now under way, some of which will be in in a few days.

Only a Small Amount Sold.

PITTSBURGH, April 23.—Oil opened here at $1.95 bid, and was offered at $1.98 down to $1.96 without any sales. Only 2,000 barrels were sold on the Oil City exchange. The Standard again made a reduction in the price for credit balances of 15 cents to $2.10.

Drop of Ten.

LIMA, O., April 23.—The Standard Oil company reduced the price of Lima oil yesterday 10 cents per barrel, making North Lima, $1.07; South Lima, $1.05, and Indiana, 90 cents per barrel. The price of Pennsylvania was reduced 15 cents per barrel.

Narrowly Escaped Death.

MASSILLON, O., April 23.—Mrs. Matthew Wright and Sarah Ann Evans were found unconscious in a burning house just out of town. The flames were bursting into their room when the neighbors carried them out. The property was set on fire by a locomotive and was wholly consumed.

SHOT AT EACH OTHER.

One of Them Killed and the Other Fatally Wounded.

MOREHEAD, Ky., April 23.—In a fight yesterday, three miles from town, Hazelrigg Nickell was killed and a son of Henry Collins fatally wounded. The trouble arose over some pension money which Mrs. Nickell had drawn and which Hazelrigg Nickell, her grandson, tried to get away from her. The old lady was staying with Henry Collins, her son-in-law. Nickell went to the house and tried to take his grandmother away but was driven off by Henry Collins, who drew a revolver on him.

Nickell swore out a warrant for Collins, and Marshal Day arrested him and brought him to town. While Collins was gone Nickell went back to the house and made another attempt to take his grandmother away. Collins' son, who was at the house, protested vigorously, and a fight ensued. The two then began shooting at each other. Nickell was killed and the boy fatally wounded.

Building Wrecked With Dynamite.

ST. LOUIS, April 23.—An attempt was made to blow up the residence of Herman Knopke in East St. Louis yesterday morning with dynamite. The front of the house was badly wrecked, all the windows shattered and a big hole was blown through the roof. That the wreck was the work of some striking employe of the Tador iron works, is the generally accepted explanation of the crime, for one of the house's occupants was J. E. Jones, superintendent of the roller mills, who had charge of the importation of men to take the places of strikers. Every one in Knopke's house was in bed save A. L. Perry, a locomotive fireman. All were thrown out of bed, but no one was injured.

Must Get Out of Pullman's Houses.

CHICAGO, April 23.—The Pullman Palace Car company has begun serving notices upon tenants who are behind in their rents that unless tenants pay the amount due the company suit will be brought to forcibly eject them from the houses they now occupy. One hundred and fifty notices were yesterday placed in the hands of constables to serve upon tenants of the Pullman company who are in arrears. Those who have been served with notices say they have no money to pay the back rents. Some of them are in arrears 10 months, while others are only two and three months behind. The majority of the tenants are discharged employes of the company.

Cowboys Preparing to Fight.

WICHITA, Kan., April 23.—Information is received here from Woodward, O. T., that the cattlemen are arming their cowboys with Winchester to resist the occupation of the grazing lands of the territory by Dan Wagner of Decatur, Tex., who has leased all the school lands in three or four counties from the territorial government. The small cattlemen now occupy the school lands, and they claim that the territorial board promised to lease them the land, but failed to do it. There will be bloodshed when Mr. Wagner goes to unload his cattle, as it is said that all the cowboys are preparing for a fight.

Great Britain Wants the Cash.

LONDON, April 23.—The Chronicle says of the report that Nicaragua is willing to cede Corn island to Great Britain: "The offer of Corn island instead of the payment of a money indemnity looks like a 'plant' on the part of our Nicaraguan friends, for they know that its acceptance would call out against us all the champions of Monroeism. We don't want any trouble with the United States over this peculiar doctrine, and therefore it would be better if we stuck to our money demands. If Nicaragua wishes to sell Corn island she had better offer it to the Americans or some other people."

Two Men Thawed Dynamite.

WAKEFIELD, Mass., April 23.—John Glynn and Charles Rooney, employed in the quarries here, were thawing out some dynamite in a small shed yesterday, when the stuff exploded. Both men were blown into the air, and the shed and outhouses near the place were demolished. Glynn lost his right arm and both eyes and Rooney had his right arm blown off and pieces of flesh torn from several parts of his body. Physicians say they can not recover.

Twenty-Five Round Fight.

CONY ISLAND, N. Y., April 23.—There was only a fair crowd of sports in attendance at the arena of the Seaside Athletic club to witness the 25 round go between Johnny Connors of Springfield, Ills., and Jack Madden of Brooklyn at 105 pounds for the bantam championship. The fight was pretty evenly matched, but at the end of the contest Madden was declared the winner.

An Excelsior Trust.

GRAND RAPIDS, April 23.—Negotiations have been in progress several weeks, with Chicago as the center of the figuring, for the organization of an excelsior trust. It proposed to organize a corporation, under the laws of Illinois, to buy up all the factories. There are about 30 in the country, operating chiefly in Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan.

Broke Her Nose.

MASSILLON, O., April 23.—While returning to Western Star Mrs. P. A. Johnson was jolted from her buggy in such a manner that she fell with her nose upon a picket fence. The nose was crushed, and the bones had to be removed. Her recovery is doubtful.

Strange To Say.

BUENOS AYRES, April 23.—A revolution is reported to have broken out in the province of Santiago. The governor, Delestero, has fled from his post.

JAPAN IS SATISFIED

Her Peace Envoys Congratulated by the Emperor.

AN IMPORTANT PROCLAMATION.

After the Exchange of the Ratifications of the Treaty of Peace Friendship Will Be Restored—Where the Exchange Will Occur—England Will Not Interfere—Warning to Germany.

YOKOHAMA, April 23.—An official dispatch says that Count Ito, president of the Japanese council of ministers, and Viscount Matsui, the Japanese minister for foreign affairs, the two officials who negotiated the treaty of peace with Viceroy Li Hung Chang and his son, Lord Li, at Shimonoseki were received in audience by the emperor on their return to Hiroshima. The emperor said: "The principal points of the treaty are entirely satisfactory, and add much to the glory of the empire. I am highly pleased at the signal service rendered by you."

Chief Secretary Itomiyoji of the foreign office, has been appointed Japanese plenipotentiary to exchange the ratifications of the peace treaty. He will proceed to Che-Foo, where the exchange will be made. The temporary headquarters of the emperor will be transferred on April 27 from Hiroshima to Kyoto.

The following imperial proclamation was issued yesterday afternoon:

"Through peace national prosperity is best promoted. Unfortunately the rupture of relations with China forced upon us a war, which, after the lapse of ten months, is not yet ended. During this period our ministers, in concert with the army, navy and diet have done all in their power to further our aims in obedience to our instructions. Our ardent desire, with the assistance of our subjects, in loyalty and sincerity is to restore peace and thereby attain our object, the promotion of national prosperity."

"Now that peace is negotiated and armistice proclaimed a permanent cessation of hostilities is near at hand. The terms of peace fixed by our ministers of state give us complete satisfaction. The peace and glory thus secured renders the present a fitting time to enlighten you as to the course of our future policy."

"We are rejoiced at the recent victories which have enhanced the glory of our empire. At the same time we are aware that the end of the road, which must be traversed by the empire in the march of civilization, is still far distant and remains yet to be attained. We therefore hope, in common with our loyal subjects, that we shall always guard against self-contentedness, but in a spirit of modesty and humility strive to perfect our military defense without falling into extreme. In short it is our wish that the government and the people alike shall work to a common end, and more subjects of all classes strive each in his sphere for the purpose of laying the foundation of permanent prosperity."

"It is hereby definitely made known that no countenance will be given by us to such as, through conceit at the recent victories, may offer insult to another state or injure our relations with friendly powers especially as regards China."

"After the exchange of the ratifications of the treaty of peace, friendship should be restored and endeavors made to increase more than ever before the relations of good neighborhood."

"It is our pleasure that our subjects pay due respect to these, our expressed wishes."

England Will Not Interfere.

LONDON, April 23.—In an editorial The Times, after admitting that Japan evidently intends to cripple and humiliate China in a manner seriously affecting European interests, insists that the diplomatic history of Europe does not bear but the pretensions that any power or powers are entitled to dictate the terms of peace between the two nations. It adds: "Great Britain's interests are involved quite as much as Russia's, but we find no stipulations in the treaty of peace warranting our interference at the cost of exciting the enmity of Japan."

Warning to Germany.

LONDON, April 23.—A Berlin dispatch to The Times says that The Vossische Zeitung blames the government for joining France and Russia against Japan. The paper says: "Suppose Great Britain and the United States support Japan in refusing to submit to the Russian demands? Germany would become involved in needless complications and would lose her own trade without earning China's gratitude."

War Vessels Preparing to Move.

LONDON, April 23.—A dispatch to The Times from Kobe, Japan, says that all the armaments of British men-of-war at that place and at Magasaki have been stopped. The commanders of the warships have received an order from the Russian legation to hold themselves in readiness to leave at 12 hours' notice.

New York, April 23.—Savoy, P. J.

Dwyer's promising brown colt, by Salvatore-Cachucha, who injured himself badly last week, was shot yesterday. Savoy worked half a mile in 52 a few days before the accident, and was entered for all the big spring events.

Tennessee Committed.

NASHVILLE, April 23.—The legislature reconvened Monday. The house adopted by a vote of 43 to 30, the senate resolution declaring in favor of the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1.

WEAVING THE WEB OF EVIDENCE.

Preliminary Examination of Theodore Durant at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—Four hours before the preliminary examination of Theodore Durant commenced yesterday a crowd commenced to gather and a squad of policemen were stationed in different parts of the room on the lookout for cranks who have written threatening letters to Judge Conlon. Before the court opened at 11 o'clock 5,000 people surrounded the hall and filled the approaches.

When the defendant arrived in court all eyes were turned upon him and he was sketched from all points of view by the newspaper artists present. The prisoner looked pale and concerned, but showed no emotion.

The photographer exhibited several photographs of the scene in the church and two enlarged pictures of Mariau Williams, showing the wounds, and the work of the physicians were exhibited and attracted much attention. They presented a revolting sight.

Mrs. Morgan, with whom Miss Williams lived in Alameda, last saw Miss Williams on the morning of the 12th inst., and deceased had told her she was going to Mrs. Voy's house.

Here the name of A. E. Williams, the father of the dead girl, was called, but in his place a young woman rushed to the stand and said that no one should testify before her. She gave the name of Williams and said that she would be the one to judge Durant and ordered him released. The police tried to remove her, but she would not let them touch her, but left the stand voluntarily after some words. She handed an incoherent letter to the clerk. She said she was sent by God to judge Durant.

The woman was subsequently identified as Laura Lucy Gould Williamson of 110 Leavenworth street. She declared herself to be an "emissary of God." She disappeared after being removed from the courtroom.

A. E. Williams then took the stand and identified the pocketbook found in Durant's overcoat as one he had given his daughter.

Sergeant Burke testified to the finding of the pocketbook. He said there was a bunch of 12 keys in the same pocket and a single key of the Yale pattern. The officers stated that one key that was on the bunch when he found the ring in the overcoat pocket was missing.

Sergeant Burns then gave a bit of sensational evidence which has not come out before. He said that when he, in company with other officers, examined the lavatory of the washroom in the back of the church just to the rear of the pulpit, he saw bloodstains on the washbasin and wall just above it. Sergeant Reynolds, in charge of the searching squad, had called his attention to the stains.

Maggie Fitzpatrick identified Durant as the young man who had called on her and two friends on Mission street near Twenty-second April 12, on the night Miss Williams was murdered. She said he was agitated. Another girl who was with her corroborated her evidence, but could not identify Durant, though she identified the coat and hat he wore.

Mrs. Mary McCoy, a laundress, testified she saw a man and a young woman near Emanuel church between 7 and 8 o'clock on the 12th. They appeared to be lovers. The man was urging the girl to accede to some proposition and the girl seemed to be coaxing him not to insist. Just as she passed them, Mrs. McCoy heard the man say: "You are a coward."

Claims to Be a Frenchman.

ANDERSON, Ind., April 23.—The French colony at Alexandria is preparing a notice to the French consul at Chicago, calling attention to the fact that Arthur Schneider, who was killed by Policeman Painter at Alexandria Saturday night, was a Frenchman who had not taken all his bills preparatory to returning to France. The French at Alexandria want indemnity proceedings instituted against the United States for the life of Schneider. The police commissioners at Alexandria are making an investigation.

After a Put-in-Bay Hotel.

TOLEDO, April 23.—A party of St. Louis capitalists, among whom was Mrs. Busch of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing company, passed through here today to Put-in-Bay, to inspect Hotel Victory, which was recently sold by the United States marshal. At Put-in-Bay the St. Louis people are to confer with Columbus and Cincinnati capitalists, the object being, it is said, to form a syndicate to purchase and operate the hotel.

Will Keep on Serving.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., April 23.—The two companies of the state militia located in this city, which recently sent a request to Governor MacCorkle that he at once disband them, will be compelled to remain in the service, even though it goes a little hard and the pay is not what it should be. The governor has not acted in the matter, and does not intend to.

Bank in Trouble.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Mr. Eckels, the comptroller of the currency, has directed Inspector Dooley to take charge of the First National bank at Williamstown, Conn. It is understood that the bank's present embarrassment is principally due to certain transactions of the cashier, who died some weeks ago. The capital of the bank is $100,000.

GREENVILLE, O., April 23.—A disastrous fire visited the farm of James Swilow, 19 miles from here, burning his barn and contents, including a lot of sheep and three horses. Loss, $8,000; no insurance.

LOOK FOR TROUBLE.

Miners in the Pittsburg District Will Raise It.

OPERATORS MAKE A THREAT.

All the Big Mines in the District Will Resume Next Monday at the Sixty-Cent Rate With Negroes Brought From North Carolina—Miners' Troubles in Indiana and Ohio.

PITTSBURGH, April 23.—The coal miners' strike in the Pittsburg district seems as far away from a settlement as at any time since the trouble began.

The delegates returned to the convention yesterday instructed to hold out for 60 cents a ton if a conference was held with the coal operators.

As the operators informed the convention on Saturday that 60 cents a ton was the best rate that could be paid, it looks as if the strike will be continued until the miners come down in the price demanded for mining.

A member of the operators' committee, when he heard the delegates to the convention insisted on a 60-cent rate, said it would be useless to confer with the miners' committee, as the operators would not pay 60 cents.

When the operators refused to go into a conference the convention decided to continue the strike for the 60-cent rate.

The operators then announced that all the big mines in the Pittsburg district would resume next Monday at the 60-cent rate with negroes brought from North Carolina.

INDIANA MINERS.

They Will Await the Outcome of the Pittsburg Wage Scale.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 23.—The bituminous miners of the state have replied through their officials to the request of the operators for a joint conference on the scale question that they do not think it advisable to hold the conference until action has been taken by the operators and miners of Ohio and Pittsburg districts. Their reason is that as Indiana is the smallest field of the competitive territory it should await the decision in these other fields before endeavoring to agree upon a scale.

The miners are willing to meet in joint conference April 29. If the Pittsburg operators secure their demanded reduction from 60 cents to 60 cents the Indiana operators in the respective fields will insist upon a like reduction to maintain the differential that has always been obtained. Secretary Kennedy of the miners' organization says they have advised that men in the Pittsburg district will resist the reduction, and that if they are successful in this then the Indiana men will insist upon the readoption of the present scale.

Strikers Destitute and Desperate.

POMEROY, O., April 23.—The Williams mine and salt works at Minersville have been closed down with hopes of allaying strife between the strikers and nonunion men. A fleet of barges has been sent to the Kanawha river to be filled with coal. Strikers are becoming destitute and are soliciting aid over the country and from other mines.

Fight at a Gypsy Camp.

LIBERTY, Ind., April 23.—Sunday night on Hannas creek, one mile east of Liberty, Buck Noe, with his brother and several other men, visited a gypsy camp on the creek. A free-for-all fight resulted. Knives, pistols and guns were the weapons used, and for an hour the battle raged furiously. Buck Noe was cut about the head and will die. A man named Rogers received a knife wound in the side, and is in a dangerous condition. One of the gypsies was shot and it is impossible to locate the bullet. Others were more or less injured. The Noes came from Kentucky.

Sealing Catch Light.

VICTORIA, B. C., April 23.—Sealing men prophesy that the coast catch will be very light this year, the prediction being based upon the bad luck which the Indian schooners have had, as also the fleet of American vessels now in Neah bay. These vessels have not done any sealing for over a month, having been prevented from operating by rough weather. They have not made an average catch of 50 skins. News of the Neah bay fleet was brought by the schooner Mountain Chief of this port. She had spoken the Teresa of Victoria with not more than 30 skins.

Ellwanger Committed Suicide.

CROWN POINT, Ind., April 23.—The coroner's verdict in the case of Otto Ellwanger, whose body was found in Lemon lake, is that he committed suicide. The examination of Coroner Bell, assisted by Drs. Blackstone and Brannon, indicated that neither the cut in his throat nor the bruises in his head were the immediate cause of his death. His lungs were filled with water, and this, the doctors say, is evidence that he was alive when he entered the water where he was found.

More of the Chicora's Wreckage.

VALPARAISO, Ind., April 23.—This city, is lined with wreckage from the Chicora. Yesterday afternoon two life preservers, with the name Chicora, were picked up about two miles from shore. A large piece of the bulwark, on which were the letters "ora," was also washed ashore.

CHICAGO, April 23.—Yesterday afternoon a well-dressed woman carrying a four and a half year-old infant in her arms, deliberately walked into the lake at the foot of Forty-seventh street. Both were drowned.

LET us show you some handsome novelties in sterling silver pen extractors, pen wipers, bouquet holders, key rings, key tags, cane and umbrella marks, new, and the finest stock of diamonds, gold watches and sterling silver ware at P. J. Murphy's, the jeweler. Successor to Hopper & Murphy.

SPEAKING of the approaching meeting of the Kentucky Division of the National League of American Wheelmen in this city June 14th and 15th, the Cincinnati Tribune says: "The reputation for hospitality of Kentucky, and especially Maysville, is National, and those who attend the Kentucky meet of '95 may depend upon it being the greatest meet ever held under the auspices of this division."

WEST Union Defender: "Ed. Hannahs, of Decatur, has purchased the mail route between Bentonville and Aberdeen, and will move his family to the former town and assume charge in person of the hack line on that road. It is Mr. Hannah's intention to extend his line on to West Union in the near future, thus connecting this place with Maysville, which no doubt will be of considerable convenience to the public."

THE most delightful function Mayslick society enjoyed during Easter week was the progressive euchre party given by Mrs. Richard Hopper on Thursday evening. The artistic beauty of her home decoration was enhanced by that of the fair hostess, who was charmingly assisted by her sister, Miss Caldwell, and Mayslick's inimitable social leader, Mrs. M. H. Davis. A most enjoyable lunch was beautifully served at ten o'clock. The very suggestive prizes were gracefully carried off by Miss M. Scott and Mrs. Alex. Duke, Miss Scott's emblematic of her "sharp luck," (or more strictly speaking, skill) i. e. an exquisite gold hat pin, Mrs. Duke's, of the game, progression, or Darwinism. Mrs. Hopper is to be congratulated on her success.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Miss Maltby's Concert and Literary Entertainment—A Spirited Contest.

The audience which assembled last Friday evening on the occasion of Miss L. Maltby's concert and exhibition was not as large as it should have been, and would have been, had our people been aware of the treat in store for them, but it made up to some extent in intelligence and appreciation what it lacked in numbers. After prayer by Rev. W. T. Spears and a statement by Miss Maltby as to the short time taken in training the class—some of them two weeks and some less than one—the regular programme was gone through with. It was too long to be detailed, and only a few salient points can be given here. Miss Milam's song, "The Old-Fashioned Photograph," a difficult composition, was admirably rendered as were her other songs. Her flute solo was excellent, and she secured an enthusiastic encore with her marvelous whistling performance. The parts taken by the Milam sisters fully sustained their reputation, not only as fine natural singers but as trained ones. Miss Roser, of Maysville, showed in her violin solos, perfect and graceful bowing and a fine sense of the capabilities of her instrument, although the condition of the organ did not permit a fitting accompaniment. A special feature of the occasion was Mrs. Howard Asbury's exceedingly realistic imitation of the blustering and moaning of the winter wind as she recited, "Voices of the Night." Among the older ones, Misses Duke Knight, Edna Hunter, Ella Roser, Lizzie Durrett, Mary Wood Taylor and Robert Allison deserve special mention. Among the younger children, Gilbert Wilkes, a manly little fellow, gave an admirable recitation, and little Pluvia Gill won all hearts both in song and recitation, by her sweet appearance, composure and good manner. But it were invidious to mention names where all the little ones did so splendidly, and many thought they deserved prizes also. The contest for the Demorest prohibition medal for best elocution was spirited in the extreme. By the terms of the contest, the subjects of recitation were limited to temperance ones, and it was interesting to hear these fresh young voices, portraying in pathetic strains the evils of drunkenness and the countless horrors of the rum traffic, none of which we pray God may ever come nearer their future lives, than in the imagination of the lecturers and writers. While the judges, Miss Sallie Curtis, Miss Milam and Mrs. J. C. Humphreys, were deciding upon the merits of the contestants, Miss Maltby gave us two very natural and happy impersonations which met with the strongest evidences of appreciation, evidencing as they did her perfect control of voice, command of expression and appropriateness of gesticulation. The judges awarded the prize to Miss Lizzie Kirk, and their decision met the unanimous approval of the audience. This little lady certainly exhibits wonderful talent in recitation and action for one so young, and gives promise of a bright future should the development of her natural powers continue. The medal was presented by Mr. Spears in well chosen, feeling and appropriate words. Miss Maltby has great reason to be proud of the success of her exhibition; it perfectly demonstrated her knowledge of her art, her great ability as an instructor, and sustained her enviable reputation as a popular elocutionist. With a benedictory prayer was ended an evening's delightful entertainment, which all present would gladly see repeated.

Mrs. George C. Goggin is seriously ill, and the absent members of her family have been telegraphed to her bedside.

The many friends of Mrs. H. J. Wood, who has been ill for so long a time, will be rejoiced to learn that she is so far recovered as to be approaching convalescence.

GILMORE-BURNS.

A Former Maysville Couple Wedded This Morning at Covington.

The marriage of Mr. Thomas Gilmore, of Huntington, W. Va., and Miss Mary E. Burns, of Covington, was solemnized at 10 o'clock this morning at St. Patrick's Church, Covington.

The groom is a brother of Mr. M. R. Gilmore, of this city, and is well known here. He holds a responsible position with the C. and O., in its office at Huntington. The bride is a former citizen of Maysville, and is a daughter of the late Thomas Burns who was at one time prominent in politics and as a city official.

The many friends of the bride and groom here join with the BULLETIN in wishing them a happy and prosperous voyage through life.

"Our Homes."

This is the subject of a charming lecture which will be delivered at the First Baptist Church, Friday evening, April 26th, by the Rev. Carter Helm Jones, the eloquent pastor of the McFerran Memorial Baptist Church of Louisville, Ky. Of this lecture the Knoxville Tribune says:

The beautiful lecture upon "Our Homes," by the Rev. Carter Helm Jones on Tuesday night at the opera house was an intellectual effort of great brilliance. It was replete with jewels of eloquence, bright witticisms, poetic passages and strongly painted word pictures. Those who were so fortunate as to be present felt that their inmost hearts were touched and their best emotions stirred by the utterances of this talented young divine.

The lecture will be under the auspices of the Young People's Union of the Baptist Church, and the admission is only 25 cents.

FRANK DAVIS, a C. and O. brakeman, was sandbagged and robbed at Huntington Sunday night.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

AS MAN AND WIFE

They Registered, but the Fellow Was Usurping the Rights of Another.

April 12, a couple put up at the Grand View Hotel and registered as man and wife. They were assigned a room, and remained as guests until yesterday afternoon, when John Meyers, of Judaville precinct, Montgomery County, reached here and swore out warrants for the couple, charging the man with fornication and the woman with adultery.

It transpires that the woman is Mrs. Eddie Meyers, wife of the man who swore out the warrants, while her companion is George Swope. She had deserted her husband and, taking their eight-year-old daughter, had eloped with Swope.

The guilty couple were to have a hearing in the Police Court this morning. Swope spent the night in jail in default of bail.

TURNPISEED-EMMONS NUPTIALS.

One of the County's Successful Teachers Quately Wedded Yesterday Afternoon.

The marriage of Mr. Charles E. Turnipseed and Miss Belle Emons was quietly solemnized yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock in the presence of the relatives and a few intimate friends of the couple. Rev. D. P. Holt officiated.

The couple left on the L. and N. train shortly afterwards, and will spend some time in Tennessee.

The groom is the youngest son of Mr. Jacob Turnipseed formerly of this city, and is one of the successful young teachers of Mason County. His popularity is attested by the fact that he has taught one school four successive terms. His bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Emons, and is a most estimable young lady.

A FRESH addition to the State press, the Morehead Advance, made its appearance last week. Powers & Bradley are the publishers.

Attempt to Wreck the Fast Express.

An attempt was made to wreck the C. and O.'s eastbound fast express last Saturday night two miles west of South Portsmouth.

While the train was speeding along at the rate of sixty miles an hour, the pilot struck something that nearly threw the engineer, Loring, out of the cab. When the train stopped it was found that a sixty pound T-rail was bent around the boiler head like a half hoop. Very luckily the pilot took the rail up, or the entire train would have been thrown down a steep embankment. Track-walker Buchard found one of the supply rails gone from the rack at the point where the rail was hit. Station Agent Stabler had seen two suspicious characters loafing about the depot that afternoon.

CAKE VS. M'GARVEY.

The Former Replies to the Latter's Recent Criticisms.

Is the Bible the Inspired, Inerrant and Infallible Word of God?

Editors Evening Bulletin: A few words with my critic, Prof. Jno. W. McGarvey of the Bible College, Lexington, Ky., and those who have read his effusions.

My first thought was to make no sort of reply to the ungracious and unkind criticisms of the Professor, other than to think of Lear's invocation to the tempest, "Blow winds, and crack your cheeks." This conclusion met the approval of a number of true friends, persons of character and culture. My present apology for a change of mind in the matter, is, first, the extended publicity given [the criticisms (?) by the republication of them in the "Christian Standard," and second, the manifest injustice in not allowing the readers of the Standard to see only such excerpts from my half-hour talks as the Professor could bend and distort to suit his purpose.

I shall not now permit myself to resort to his method of contention. Should I at any time say what would be beneath the dignity of a gentleman,—should my attention be called to it,—I shall promptly beg the Professor's pardon.

If any conception I may hold of Christianity is of the sort that fosters or necessitates the resort to epithets, I will feel obligated to renounce at once that conception of Christianity. I consider it vastly more important to deport myself as a christian gentleman, than I deem it important to defend, maintain, or propagate any theory of Biblical interpretation.

If in the end it should be shown that the Bible is the word of God, "inspired, inerrant and infallible," it would be but a means to an end, and that end would be the production of character, and that end is of more importance than the means to attain that end. If one's belief about the Bible does not lead to a higher moral character than those who do not hold that belief, then, for that one at least, the Bible might as well not have been.

I will now make the attempt to state, as clearly as I can, the purpose I had in view in the half-hour talks.

Locally, that which gave rise to my purpose, was the bold and confident, and oft-repeated declaration, made in private conversation and in public addresses, of certain religious teachers, "That the Book from cover to cover is the inspired word of God, inerrant and infallible."

This led me to say that the Bible furnishes abundance of testimony, or proof, that this claim made for it is not the truth or reality, and to so teach is to set forth what is not the truth. The same thought expressed in other words: the Bible in its several parts, and as a whole, is not the inspired word of God, inerrant and infallible. As a whole it is not the word of God, but "contains the word of God."

Now, since Professor McGarvey has, from a "sense of duty to the public," become my critic, saying nothing of the personnel or exciting cause whereby he became awakened to this "sense of duty," his method gives unmistakable evidence of a Roman Church fallacy as finely put by Rev. Thomas C. Hall of Chicago: (Thomas C. Hall is a son of Dr. John Hall, of New York.): "According to the Roman conception, Christianity is a series of doctrinal definitions, a pure teaching revealed directly from God to men. The acceptance of these doctrines constitutes the acceptance of Christianity and the expectation is cherished that upon the surrender of the intellect to these doctrines the whole life will be revolutionized in accordance with them. But she cherishes a false hope that the moral life will be a necessary outcome of the honest acceptance of her dogmas, and experience teaches us that this,—the life revolutionized by them, "is simply not the case."

If the Professor was not theoretically such a thorough Romanist as he is, whereby he reduces Christianity to a series of doctrines and dogmas, to which the intellect must surrender, and then the whole life will be revolutionized, his methods would be quite different.

His failure to exhibit the Christian spirit and the tolerance of his Master makes one extremely shy in the reception of his Roman-dogmatic-intellectual-revolutionizing theory. It is quite specious and catching as a theory, but valuable only as a theory. The one heresy from which the Bible and Christianity has suffered more than from all else, is the heresy of over-statement and over-emphasis of friends and apologists, stating and emphasizing that in which the Bible is silent, or what in its pages is flatly denied.

Grant that I blundered in the numerical statement of the foxes in the Samson story and in the typographical error Enoch for Enos, and of some chronological figures in Genesis, in which Mr. Briney said, "there is no reliable system of chronology;" and what of them? Let me parallel them.

A few years ago the Professor was the valiant champion for the non-use of the organ as an aid in the church worship, basing his conclusions upon the silence of the New Testament. Still later, he and his educational co-adjutors were the preferred referees defending the subjection, degradation and silence of women in the church; holding she is not permitted to "speak" because of the authoritative statement of Paul commanding her "silence" in some matters which were of purely local concern. And still earlier, the Professor defended American slavery as a "divine institution," by citing Bible authority for it.

Now since the church from a wider induction of facts finds ample reasons for rejecting his dogma of "silence," and the Pauline dogma concerning women, and since advancing civilization has destroyed his "divine institution," American slavery, would it comport with Christian manliness for me to advise the Professor "to go to Sunday school," or to declare him an "ignoramus" because he blundered in interpretation; blundered so seriously and flagrantly in these matters that almost the entire Christian world has rejected his interpretation?

However naively the Professor may indulge in his favorite pastime—dogmatics—there is more serious work for him. Living as he does in constant horror of heresy, he will yet find more heroic work than a fusillade of spite and contempt, of sneers and flings. We are the heirs of a new day. The past is to be relegated to those of prelatical and popish turn of mind. The great gift conferred by Protestantism, the right of "individual interpretation," is bearing its fruit, a just suspicion of all popes, little popes and big popes, popes either in Rome or Lexington.

Again, for the sake of emphasis, I will repeat what was the purpose of the "Half-Hour Talks on the Bible." It was to show the unreality and fallacy of the claim, an "inerrant and infallible book."

Will you, Professor, have the grace to squarely meet the issue? The Bible either is, or it is not God's word. It either contains, or it does not contain God's word. If either is errant, or it is inerrant. It either is fallible, or it is infallible. That he means to dodge the issue in his criticism is apparent in this; when I cited the contradiction in the statement, "Satan moved David," and "the Lord moved David," on this the Professor remarked in his thrillingly lucid way, "I wonder if the man has lived this long without learning that some things done by Satan, are also done by the Lord, Satan doing a part and the Lord doing a part." No, I have not lived long enough to learn this. I have never studied his theory of divine and Satanic co-partnership originated and designed to harmonize all contradictions. His flexible, elastic and warranted not to "cut in the eye, ravel or run down at the heel" theory to meet all supposed or supposable difficulties. Pardon this seeming levity, but to speak of it soberly, would be to exaggerate its importance. If the Professor was given to joking, I would think this theory a huge joke.

Take another instance of his thrilling lucidity. He says of "God tempting Abraham," and James' statement, "that God tempts no man," "Again I wonder if he has lived so long without learning that the word tempt in the Bible means to try, and that the trial may be for a good purpose or for an evil one?"

"Yes, I have long since known that the right word to use is "try or trial." But I was not discussing the morale of "tempt or try," but citing the conflicting statements.

I beg the reader's pardon for citing this much, but hope by so doing to show some of the marvelous feats of this Bible College exegete; and to further show how flexible scripture is when pre-suppositions are to be maintained and defended, such as God and the devil in co-partnership.

Let us now see if we can discover the Professor's attitude towards our contention, i. e., the Bible as a whole is not the inspired, inerrant and infallible word of God. His attitude towards this is the matter of first and prime importance, and not his ability as a textual exegete. Textual criticism assumes the Bible to be the word of God, but if the assumption is challenged, it is helpless or incompetent to meet the challenge. About the best it can do is to follow the Professor's method, create fanciful interpretations such as God and the devil in co-partnership: "God doing a part and the devil doing a part."

In your book, "The Text and Canon," at page 11, you say, "As a result of these investigations, the number of these various readings, that is, readings different from those in the text commonly used, which are to be found in the hundreds of different manuscripts, is now estimated at not less than 120,000," and in a foot note, "some authors estimate higher."

As the oldest manuscripts which have been preserved doubtless are copies of copies many times copied, have we any assurance, do we know that in the details they bear a close resemblance to the autographs? What we do know is, there are material and pronounced variations in the extant copies, and the most natural inference is, there would be decided and marked different readings between the oldest we have and the original autographs. As evidence of the presumptive difference in the readings as research goes back of our oldest manuscripts, I cite the find of Miss Lewis in 1893, of a Syrian manuscript at the convent on Mt. Sinai, presumed to belong to about A. D. 170.

Another presumption is equally natural, and probable, i. e. there would doubtless be a very noticeable difference between some of the autographs and the oral gospel tradition.

These variations in readings are no occasion for serious alarm, for historic criticism is making it plainer each year how they came about. But the question now is, how do they stand related to an "inspired, inerrant and infallible Book?" or to your dogma, "Infallibility of the Scriptures?" At page 1, "Text and Canon," you say, "Moreover, an authentic account of the Christian religion, which should fall short of infallibility, would leave the mind a continual prey to doubt in regard to its exact teaching and requirements; * * * but our inquiry will not reach the result that is desirable, unless we find proof that the Scriptures are infallible."

By your oft-repeated concessions of thousands of different readings—not different alone in the sense of varying accounts of the same thing, but different by the introduction of new and contradictory matter—interpolations, etc., etc., you do not reach "the result that is desirable," for the evident reason you do not reach "proof that the Scriptures are infallible," for the evident reason you never do or can get out of the realm of differing and conflicting readings.

If the original autographs were in existence—and you concede they are not—they would be the criteria by which to correct and judge all subsequent copies. There is, therefore, no criteria beyond an approximate judgment, a probability. If the original autographs were in existence they would not furnish a criteria for the "infallibility of the Scriptures, the "result" you deem so "desirable," for even then we would have human language, and the Scriptures put into the symbol of human speech never has or can reach "infallibility." A question, Professor: May a writing or document be "authentic" and yet not infallible? If you answer yes, then you admit my premise; if you answer no, then you discredit all human history, for no human history is infallible.

Plainly, then, the Bible we use, in whatever translation or revision, does not go to the original source by several hundreds of years. What we have is errant and fallible. How, then, can the declaration of certain religious teachers be the truth? or your quest, "the result so desirable,"—the "infallibility of the Scriptures"—ever be more than the pursuit of a phantom? Respectfully,

E. B. CAKE.

NEW PAPER IN CHICAGO.

It Will Be Known as The Enquirer and Will Be Democratic in Politics.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 23.—Yesterday evening papers of incorporation were filed with the secretary of state for a new daily and weekly Democratic newspaper in the city of Chicago, to be known as The Enquirer, the capital stock being $1,000,000, divided into 10,000 shares of $100 each.

Among the incorporators whose names are given are these: Judge Samuel P. McConnell, president of the Ironquois club; Frank Weister, late Democratic candidate for mayor of Chicago; ex-Mayor John P. Hopkins, Delos F. Phelps, formerly chairman Democratic state central committee; Edward T. Noonan.

The policy of the new paper, on the financial question, has not been fully determined.

HEAD-END COLLISION.

Freight and Passenger Trains on the Baltimore and Ohio Run Together.

NEWARK, O., April 23.—A bad wreck occurred on the Lake Erie division of the Baltimore and Ohio. Fast train No. 8 was rounding a curve, when it collided with a freight. The fireman and engineer of the passenger saw their danger in time to throw on the air brakes and jump.

The engineer, McDonald, sustained several broken ribs, and his fireman was also injured in a like manner.

Postal Clerk Gregg was caught in the old fashioned mailcar, which was crushed like an egg. He was shaken up some, but was not seriously hurt. The big freight engine ploughed into the lighter passenger clear up to the drivers, but neither machine left the track.

JAPAN'S NEXT MOVE.

When Through With China Her Attention Will Be Directed to Hawaii.

COLUMBUS, O., April 23.—Rev. Robert G. Hutchins, who has just arrived here from his pastorate in Honolulu, says 27,000 Japanese are in the islands, 11,000 being laborers on sugar plantations. Those on plantations have grievances against their superintendents. All have a grievance against the government because they are not allowed to vote. They reside there by treaty which Japan will not consent to abrogate.

When Japan is through with China serious complications might ensue. Mr. Hutchins says England, Japan or the United States must own the islands.

Sam Frazier a Raving Maniac.

NASHVILLE, April 23.—A Chattanooga special says: Sam Frazier, the man who betrayed his companions who had entered into a conspiracy to hold up and rob the Southern railroad train at Greenwood and which resulted in the death of Tom and Jerry Morrow, has become a raving maniac. He was confined in the jail at Somerset by the officials who, at first, believed he was feigning insanity, but he has developed an unmistakable case of lunacy and has been sent to the insane asylum near Somerset, Ky.

Defrauded Through the Mails.

TOLEDO, April 23.—C. W. Rogers, who claims Buffalo as his home, was arrested in the postoffice building in this city yesterday on a charge of using the mails to defraud. According to the federal authorities, Rogers inserted advertisements in the surrounding country press for an engineer to work in a lumber mill. They say he received numerous replies and that he charged each applicant $10, insuring them the imaginary position at a good salary.

Rear-End Collision.

LOVELAND, O., April 23.—No. 82, on the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railway, had a rear-end collision with a gravel train at Foster's. Several cars were broken, and Engineer Ed Jones of No. 86 was badly hurt, one arm being broken. The company's surgeon was telegraphed for, and the wrecking train sent for to clear the track. It is reported that the latter train was crowding the other's time and did not wait for the limit.

Five Prisoners Escape.

CLEVELAND, April 23.—Five prisoners, James Clark, Peter Coleman, Charles Bryant, John Welsh, alias Shang Burns, and William Loomis, escaped from the workhouse yesterday afternoon with ridiculous ease. While the guard was busy in the brushshop one of them sawed off a bar over a window and all climbed through it and down a fire escape to the ground, whence escape to the railroad yards was easy.

Brothers Play With a Gun.

LAPORTE, Ind., April 23.—Charles Dowd, aged 17, was fatally injured near Westville yesterday by the accidental discharge of a shotgun. He and his brother were playing with the gun when the trigger of the gun was accidentally touched, discharging the gun, the entire load entering young Dowd's body.

Ten Round Glove Contest.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 23.—The glove contest arranged to be pulled off last night between "Dutch" Neill of St. Louis and Wiley Evans of Cincinnati ended in a knockout for Neill in the fourth round. The contest was one of the most scientific ever seen here.

Colored Tragedy.

JACKSON, Mich., April 23.—Elijah Stewart, aged 29, colored, shot his wife, also colored, three times with a revolver Monday, and ten minutes later fired a bullet into his own brain. It is believed both will die.

Fresh Earthquake Shocks.

TRIESTE, April 23.—A dispatch from Lubach says that a fresh earthquake shock was felt there at 3:50 p. m. Much damage was done to houses and considerable alarm was caused among the inhabitants.

LAWRENCEBURG, Ind., April 23.—Late Saturday morning Samuel McElfresh, while attending to some work at the fair grounds, fell backward from the steps of the amphitheater and, striking a post, sustained a fracture of three ribs, and received other painful injuries. He was carried home and will be confined to his room for some time.

Pioneer Woman Dead.

MINERVA, O., April 23.—The funeral of Mrs. Phoebe Downer, 82, which occurred here yesterday, was the largest ever held in the Methodist Episcopal church. She was a pioneer, and the mother of 16 children, 12 of whom survive her. She had 89 grandchildren and 67 great-grandchildren.

Cincinnati Tobacco Market.

Furnished by the Cincinnati Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Company:
The weather being favorable, the farmers have been busy engaged in farm work, and have not been pricing, and this has caused the receipts to be very moderate, and the sales have not been quite so large as they have been a few weeks past. The market has continued at about the same figures of the previous week, although some tobacco that was neglected at previous sales has advanced, and some of the shippers are better satisfied, especially those who offered good tobacco. There is a tendency toward better prices, except the very lowest grade containing green and nondescript tobacco. The proportion of fancy tobacco is very small, and as we have stated in our previous circulars, we can see nothing to prevent a good substantial market for all there is in the crop, while the amount of low grades is in excess of the demand. The offerings of the old stock has been quite light, and previous prices have been fully sustained, especially when the tobacco was sweet, while the lunked goods are selling very low. Some excellent prices were obtained, as the reports will show, and the desire to get all the good tobacco possible was manifested very plainly, as the sales closed firm up to the last hoghead.

SHOT IN THE EYE.

A Drunken Quarrel at Fern Leaf Results in the Wounding of One of the Parties.

Frank Brown and Bob Walton, both colored, living on Mr. S. M. Worthington's farm near Fern Leaf, engaged in a quarrel early Sunday morning.

Brown emptied his shot-gun at Walton but failed to get his game. He then went into the house and closed the door. No sooner was the door closed than Walton fired one shot. The ball went through the door and struck Brown in the left eye, making a very dangerous wound.

Brown is resting easy but the chances are against him. Brown was drinking and was considered quarrelsome while under the influence of liquor.

Walton is a stepson of the man he shot.

Drs. Reed and Owens went out this morning to extract the bullet if possible.

Your Husband—

is he not dear to you? Should you not be careful of his health? Maybe he is sometimes weak and run down from the effects of overwork, or worry, or carelessness. But you need not be alarmed; a tablespoonful of three times a day for a week or two will make him well and strong. And this is how it does it: It purifies and enriches the blood and gently stimulates the action of the vital organs, and helps them perform their proper offices. Don't neglect trifling ailments. Brown's Iron Bitters is pleasant to take, and it will not stain the teeth nor cause constipation. See the crossed red lines on the wrapper. Our book, "How to Live a Hundred Years," tells all about it; free for 2c. stamp. BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.
